Chris Williams, Partner at Velocity Performance said: “Velocity Performance has improved the leadership and management skills for literally tens of thousands of people across the world. Up until recently, such services were typically only provided for corporate clients from Fortune 100 companies down to small and midsize businesses. Our academies make these programs available directly to individual professionals and entrepreneurs who otherwise wouldn't be able to locate and access such services. In keeping with Velocity Performance's vision to build 1 Million Leaders across the world, we are tremendously excited to expand our training and leadership courses right here in Southern New Hampshire - our own backyard."
