Eaton & Berube Insurance Agency Welcomes Delilah Nangle as Personal Lines Sales Representative

Nashua, N.H. – April 7, 2016 – Eaton & Berube Insurance Agency, of Nashua, N.H., announced today the hire of Delilah Nangle as a personal lines sales representative. Previously employed in personal lines insurance at State Farm, Nangle holds both a property and casualty insurance producer license as well as an accident, life and health insurance license.

Before beginning a career in insurance, she worked in event marketing and mobile technology device sales for Mosaic Sales Solution. Prior to moving to Nashua, where she has resided for 10 years, Nangle grew up in Queens, N.Y. She said one of her greatest accomplishments was her acceptance to the Julliard School of Music in New York City, where she studied percussion for three years.

Within the Greater Nashua community, Nangle serves as an active volunteer (and former board member) for Positive Street Art, a non-profit organization that strives to inspire passion for urban arts in a productive way, and to build stronger communities through educational workshops, community events and artistic services. She also said she greatly enjoys networking and building relationships with the members of our community through attending events hosted by iUGO, the Greater Nashua Chamber of Commerce’s group designed for young professionals looking to establish and expand their social and professional circles.

“We are thrilled that Delilah [Nangle] has joined us,” said Eaton & Berube President Marc R. Berube. “Her strong work ethic, community involvement, and positive energy make her a great fit for our agency.”

At home, Nangle looks forward to spending time with her husband Christopher, two daughters Elizah and Mia, and step children Ayana and Damien. From visiting lakes and beaches in the summer, to heading to the mountains for skiing and snowboarding in the winter, she said her family enjoys staying active and traveling throughout New Hampshire, Maine, and Vermont.
