

Inspiring NH Youth To Set A Foundation for Leadership

(NASHUA, NH) – This past Tuesday morning, over 100 sixth grade students and parents from St. Christopher and Infant Jesus participated in a Victory Academy leadership program via the annual Project Safeguard Day. The young students were challenged by Velocity Performance to build a foundation for leadership. This highly interactive program was specifically designed to inspire youth students by breaking leadership down into 9 foundational elements and delivering the program in a fun and energetic environment.

Cindy Clarke, Principal at St. Christopher School, expressed her enthusiasm for the program. “The Victory Academy program focused on the belief that each member of our school community is unique and can be a leader in their own way. Our sixth graders gained exposure to age-appropriate leadership concepts and practices. Through experiential learning strategies, group assignments, and hands-on activities, students experienced the application of leadership skills, building confidence in their abilities and enhancing their capacity to serve in leadership roles. This program will have a huge impact on our students and provided them good leadership strategies to use as they transition to junior high school.”

The goal of the Victory Academy is clear—to propel the emerging generation to their maximum potential and make those around them better. The program provided captivating lessons and thoughtful exercises about the Victory Academy’s 9 ATTRIBUTES of WINNERS—9 identified leadership traits of business, athletic and community leaders.

“Our vision at the Victory Academy is to build young leaders. We recognize that a leadership void is being created, and we must help fuel a new generation of leaders. I was thrilled to lead this academy and genuinely impressed with the focus and engagement shown by the students. It was also wonderful to see the support and encouragement from the attending parents,” said Kristen Kjellman Marshall, Associate Partner at Velocity Performance and Executive Director of the Victory Academy.

At Velocity Performance, the company has witnessed the impact of the Victory Academy programs across the world's leading corporate brands such as HP and Dell, along with highly touted academic institutions such as Brown University, Dartmouth College, Tufts University, Rivier University, WPI and Amherst College.
